

Discours de rentrée de Nicolas Dupont-Aignan

77 min · Debout la France

However, we are not so badly placed in the new media, in the platforms, in the social networks that we have seen in our round table this afternoon. And unlike most of our competitors, we do not want to trick or track the French. We will always oppose these general surveillance projects. So obviously, we do not have the biggest armada. And yes, here we are committed to volunteering. We have only the humble satisfaction of fighting for France. We do not have a battalion of opportunists flaring the gamel. We look at you from above, but refer to this extraordinary film, the Battle of Gaulle, and to these superb scenes where the general is looking for support among the notable at the French embassy. All people are afraid for their precincts, for their place, this meeting in France, never. Who joins it? The purest, the sailors of the Isle of Sainz, the most patriotic like Leclerc, like Thierry of Argenteau. Six million French have seen the film. Get up those who have seen the film. We should almost fire those who have not seen it. And in any case, if you have not seen it, go ahead, go ahead. Well, yes, we are the sovereignists, yes we are the Gaullists, and we are not many today, but we will be millions in a few months. The presidential campaign is about to begin, it is a battle, and from this battle depends the survival of France. Our existence as a nation really depends. All the fury, all the power of the system will soon fall on us. If we manage to resist it, we will regain our freedom. But if we fail, then our dear and old country, what we have known and loved will fall into the abyss and become a region of a European bureaucrat to the German society. I am an impression of Winston Churchill who said, let us prepare to fulfill our duty and to lead us in such a way that if the British Empire lasts a thousand years, the men will still say, this was their most beautiful hour. Let us rise, let us fight, it is a civilization that we defend, it is a living art, it is a literature, it is a culture. France has an incredible history. Our country has generated an incalculable number of geniuses, of visionaries who have left an imprint that will remain visible for millennia. Gustave Félix Sature, Louis XIV and his castle, Philippe Auguste and Louvre. France, the world, encompasses all climates and all reliefs. Chains of Montagne, Genoux Vieilles, paradise beaches, Sablonos, the Dougalais, forests with lost views in the Andes, in Guyane, in the Volcans in the Etang or in the Activity. France is a country of immense artists, writers, painters, musicians, whose houses, their graves, make it a place of admiration never denied. So, to lead this battle, we need a man who does not tremble. We need a man who is the experience to govern, the courage to decide and the freedom to resist. A man who knows France and loves it deeply, and who does not accept to see it being distorted in a group that dictates what it should be. We need a man who has already known the honors, but who knows their favorite convictions. A man who has known the solitudes, but who has never confused solitude with defeat. This man, dear friends, he is among us, he has held everything, he has always held good. This man is Nicolas Dupont -Aignan, and I ask you to shake your flag.

Thank you. Thank you, you are so many today. I believe that this room has never welcomed so many people. These are good signs. Thank you to all our prestigious guests, the former Greek Minister of Defense, friend of the greats of this world. Thank you to Florian Philippot, President of the Patriots, who made us the honor to be here, and who is launching the Union. Thank you to Philippe Muret. Thank you to Jacqueline Mourot, who will be my spokesperson for the campaign. Thank you to all the personalities who have been present and who make us the honor. Thank you to the faithful of Debout la France, who have always accompanied me, the Vice Presidents. Thank you to all of you, the elected parliamentarians, regional councilors, mayors of France. It is time. You have understood before the others that a country that no longer controls its borders, its currency, its budget, its laws, its public services, cannot govern, cannot make its citizens happy. We understood this with Philippe De Villiers, with Jean -Pierre Chevenement, with Philippe Seguin, with Charles Pascois. Thank you to them for starting the fight. But you have understood before the others that the time is even more serious, because you know the evil, ferocious, morbid project of Emmanuel Macron and of Wanderley. Their agenda 2030, a new carbon tax, which has just been voted in the European Parliament. The expansion of the Union in Ukraine and the Balkans, which will cost 50 billion a year to France, which you will pay and which will destroy our agriculture. Migrant submersion, which is a tragedy for Europe and which deprives Africans of their resources, of their talent. The digital social control, we talked about it with the influencers, which wants to censor everything to silence peoples, not only the French people, as Panos said, but all peoples of Europe. the disappearance of the industrial employment that wants to turn France into a amusement park, the perpetual austerity that wants to question the conquests of the National Council of Resistance, social insecurity and the withdrawal by distribution, the abduction of our nuclear disillusionment by the Brussels Commission under German influence, the end of our youth, like cannon fodder in an absurd conflict that could have been avoided from the start and could have been avoided as Panos said by Donald Trump and Vladimir Putin, but the Europeans, not the Europeans, the European leaders, want to send us to war to liquidate the nations, to quench their thirst for power, to fill their pockets. The issue is immediate. You have seen the dangerous character that serves as President of the Republic, bringing together the leaders of the party, obeying, coming into the basement of the Elysée, to lend themselves to this macabre staging. It is time to stop this. On April 18, 2027, every Frenchman, in conscience, in his soul, in his heart, in the isolation, will have to answer two questions. The first question is whether we want to continue with this band that has been plunging France into chaos for 30 years, wants to scare us, wants to silence us, and tries to put us under psychological grip since the Covid crisis. Do you really want to continue with this band? Frankly, I am convinced that no. But there is a second fundamental question. If you do not want to continue with this band that leads to chaos and war, with whom and how do you want to rebuild France? This is the real question that the French will have to ask themselves. So, what is the personality, its course, its evidence? And I thank all the heroes who are here. What is the team? Because it is a team. What is the project capable of sincerity, courage, kindness towards all the French, wherever they come from, coherence? We must attack, we can attack the roots of the country's problems, to really save it. You know, that's the meaning of my candidacy. A real break to regain freedom and responsibility. And this break takes a path that is the path of all Gaullists. But because I am convinced that it is the ground that can save the country. It is the path of national independence to free oneself from the European Union, to get out to be clear, and to regain the taste of national effort. Because, be careful, I do not propose an exit to shave for free. I propose an exit to learn again, to get up, to walk standing, to make an effort, to rebuild France. It is a big difference with many. The path of intelligent protectionism to adopt our companies, our jobs, the purchasing power of the French who suffer like never before, like the fund of all the countries that have succeeded in globalization. Because look at the Asian successes, it is not wild liberalism, it is a mixture of effort and protection. Europe has forgotten, France has forgotten. The path, I talked about it a moment ago, but let's be clear, and I will assume it during this campaign, of peace in Ukraine to stop the massacre of this civil war, of this abominable killing. Because I suffer in all my being to know that our taxes finance weapons that kill Ukrainians, that kill Russians, hundreds of thousands that could be saved. A few days ago I was in Verdun and I was meditating through the graves and I was saying to myself, we are now arming a conflict of the same magnitude, this Verdun conflict, this war of 144, which destroyed Europe and made it take a century of delay. We are starting again in the heart of Europe by crazy love doctors who are dangerous, that we must stop before it is too late. That is the challenge, it is the only solution, also beyond the lives we will save, to have a good market energy. Because do you think we will survive with a European economy that pays its gas four times more expensive than the United States or four times more expensive than China? It is the unsafety in the next ten years. And then the fourth path that I propose to you is the path of direct democracy in Switzerland. And yes, this little prosperous country, locked up in its mountains, which is teaching us with nurses, paying three times the price of a nurse in France, who has been able to remain free, who thinks of himself, who defends his interests. So we are not too small to be free, we are not too small to be strong. We simply lack thinking of our destiny. So this project of national liberation around these four points, it differentiates me from all the other candidates. Because by accepting the loss of sovereignty of France towards the European Union, by accepting the march towards war, piloted by NATO, my competitors are simply disputing the title of governor. Governor of a province and again of a protectorate, of a colony. I am a candidate for the presidency of the Republic, a sovereign republic. A republic where the people decide for themselves. This is the big difference. The slogan of my campaign, of our campaign, because it is not mine, it is yours. Let's free France, let's protect the French. I want to explain to you, French, that the very concrete questions of purchasing power, of employment, of future, of individual happiness, of collective benevolence, of national concord, are deeply linked to the capacity that we will have to recover the levers of power to make good use of them. So yes, have you ever seen a boxer win a boxing match, the hands tied in the back? Have you seen it? Let's be very concrete for our compatriots who suffer. Lowering the TVA on fuel is forbidden today. We need the decision of the 27. Those who promise it without wanting to leave the European Union tell us lies. Lowering the price of electricity to align it with the cost of our nuclear power plants, we are lucky to have them. We could lower the price of electricity in France by half, but we do not have the right. Protect our farmers from imports of bovins full of antibiotics and growth hormones. It depends on a dark bureaucrat at the Brussels Commission. Control our borders, we no longer have the right. Tick the part of the factory in France in an industrial product, we no longer have the right. Imprison the OQTF until they are taken back by their country of origin, we no longer have the right. The Court of Justice of the European Union is watching. Lowering, as Trump did, the tax on companies for the benefits reinvested on French soil, we no longer have the right. Increasing the national tax rights when there is a competition for the law, it's over. Lending to zero tax to the French Bank to finance investments, not to create inflation, as China did, to invest in robotics, artificial intelligence, robots, we no longer have the right, since the law of 1973 and international agreements. Restoring freedom of expression, but we no longer have the right. Mr. Breton swore to have the UN annulled the second round of elections of the Romanian president, a sovereigntist, by the famous DSA, of which they are so proud. Getting out of the integrated military command of NATO, the Lisbon Treaty, prohibits it. So I will not bore you with all this enumeration, but I want to make you understand. And I invite you to say it everywhere you go, that there is a totally immediate, close link between the concrete living conditions of all our French, of all our fellow citizens and Europeans, my dear Panos, with the system that has been set up, and which is a system of generalization of peoples in favor of an oligarchic, globalized minority, which is putting the world upside down. That is the challenge. And how, once again, to have all the levers, monetary, commercial, budgetary, legislative, we could rebuild the country? So that's why I repeat it, because we will have to say it anyway. Did you see this surrealist debate in front of the Medef? A few days ago, a few weeks ago, it was extraordinary. Mrs. van der Leyen comes at the end of the morning to dictate the general framework. The president of the Medef is a lima in front of her. Incredible. And then the candidates, authorized by the media, debate among themselves in this framework, without ever saying but this lady who came to give us lessons to pick up our savings, because in fact it's the only thing we have left. This lady, who is she elected by? Who does she represent? Who? Tell me who. So, I hear what is said and what we are going to tell you. We will tell you, the poor guy from Pont -Aignan, he lost his head, he wants to leave the European Union. Besides, he has changed. Yes, I assume. I assume. Several years ago, when France was still France, I thought we could change the rules inside the Union by negotiation. After the Covid crisis, the march towards war, the control of all the media, I think it is no longer possible. So yes, I have evolved. But I have evolved because the situation has evolved. So, in short, they will tell us, the poor guy from Pont -Aignan, he lost his head, he wants to leave the European Union, it is impossible. So, I want to answer you on a very simple thing. For three reasons, we have to leave.

First, I have already mentioned the first. If we stay there, it is even more dangerous. And yes, I have listed the 2030 agenda project. It is a federal coup. Philippe Murer analyzed it very well. It is a federal coup that is in progress. Debt and war. Debt and war is how the United States of America united. Debt and war. So, we are in the trap. This is why we have to leave now. I have listed everything that will happen to us if we stay in it. So, all those who tell you it is dangerous, I tell them, it is much more dangerous to stay there. Much more dangerous to stay there. But the French do not know it because they are hiding this agenda. They live the consequences, dear Jacqueline, and you detailed it. But they do not know what awaits us. And if we wait, it will be too late. So, we have to free ourselves now, before we have the rope around our neck that is tightened. Now or never. The second reason why we will not be afraid, as Florian Philippot said, is that France has lived 1500 years without being led by a dictatorship of a ferocious memory. That I know, France has gone to the first rank of the nations by its courage, its value, its inventions, its talent, its genius, its difficulties. It has lived through dramas, betrayals. It was an old nation, a test -taker, as General de Gaulle said. But why would the French of today not be able to take the challenge? Why? Let us regain confidence in ourselves. Let us regain confidence in ourselves. And I want to tell you something. We will tell you, yes, but the French are not strong enough to do it. Have you heard it a hundred times? But we are too small. Israel, Singapore, Morocco, Japan, a little bigger than us, Salvador, who has restored order. I can say everything, but Salvador, he managed to restore order against all the mafias. How many inhabitants? Iceland, less than a million inhabitants, who voted no. Congratulations, Icelanders! But freedom is not a matter of weight. Freedom is freedom. However, what is true is that I do not propose the exit of the Union to dispense you with an effort. And that my difference with all the demagogic sleep merchants is that I will propose a liberation from France to find a moral responsibility and duty. The plan I will propose during this campaign is audacious. I do not care about the so -called unpopularity. Yes, we will have a plan to make public accounts to give the French the tens of billions of euros wasted. And we can not say that I do not know how to do it. Very modestly with the team that, despite everything, we did yesterday, this city was ruined. We divided the debt in half. We restored it. And why can not we do the same for France? Yes, we will have a plan to restore order and block immigration. Not to reject all foreigners who contribute to the wealth of the country. But to say that it is up to us to choose who enters or leaves our territory. And that all the countries of the world, and especially the countries of Maghreb and the countries of Africa, are the first to apply this rule. And why would they have the right and not us? One day I met Boulevard Saint -Michel in Paris, a gentleman from Côte d 'Ivoire, I think he told me, sir, you are right, we, at home, the head of the village, when someone arrives from another village, he says, you can come to our village, but you respect the laws of the village. And if you are not happy, you will go back to your other village. Nice lesson, nice lesson for France. It is not rejecting others. It is not rejecting others, it is respecting them, on the contrary. And loving them. And it is important, and I am the only candidate to have a plan for the development of Africa on a winning -winning scheme to free the peoples of Africa too, who deserve to be freed. A project that values family, life. Imagine that Emmanuel Macron's last law will be a law to give death. Symbol of this terrible, terrible quinquennat. The reconstruction of the school, the school of knowledge, of merit and effort. And then finally a project to re -found our public services, especially the hospital, free from bureaucracy and the weight of money, since it is the money of the pharmaceutical laboratories that has bought the slavery of the French and programmed death. So, you see, it is a demanding plan that I propose to you. France will walk again on two legs. Freedom, responsibility and this new alliance, and this is the third reason to convince your friends, your neighbors, to come with us to regain our freedom. The third reason is that we will have results. Yes, it is natural. Because when fuel prices will drop by 50 cents, the economic forces will take a breath. When the price of electricity will drop by half, our companies will be competitive. When the reconciliation with Russia will lower the gas price by four times, our industry will start again. When our currency will drop, as General De Gaulle did, because who believes that the RUEF plan has succeeded without the devaluation of the new French of the time? Without devaluation we cannot restart. And not ours, it is something. It is the only solution. Yes, these measures will allow us to restart, to recreate wealth in France, employment, to give purchasing power. I will not distribute money that I do not have. I want to create the mechanisms that allow to recreate wealth on French soil. So, this French success, because France will restart very quickly, you will see, because there is everything to succeed in France, talents, engineers, science. We do not imagine the richness of French talents. When France will restart, it will have success. So, you tell me, you will be alone. But, put it, forgive me, put it. They do not know the European countries, what is happening. You have seen what is happening in Germany. You have seen what is happening in all countries. Only France is the country of Europe that must give the signal, because France has liberated the peoples of Europe throughout its history. Sometimes a little brutally and with excess. But, we will forgive them. But, it is France that exported the Declaration of Human Rights and the citizen. It is France that can liberate the nations of Europe. And I will not address to the corrupt government. I will address once free to the peoples of Europe by telling them, but imitate France. Leave this tyrannical organization, corrupted, who wants war. Join us. And I often took this picture that I take again, I repeat, but you have to hammer. We will leave the furniture torn, the doors open, squatted, with a tyrannical cooperative union, with exorbitant charges. Well, we will move, we will live in an individual house, with our closures, our borders. And then we will found a loting, with our neighbors. And we will have our German friends, our Italian friends, our Danish friends. And in a loting, we each have his house, his garden, but that does not prevent us from... We will take the apéritif, have a pool in common, a tennis court, equipment. We will build cooperations. Leaving the European Union is not becoming alone. It is, on the contrary, becoming friends again. France and Germany reconciled. Degas and Denauers. Everyone had their borders, their currency, their laws, their budget. And everything is fine. Airbus was not made by the European Union. Airbus is the cooperation of three nations, four, who worked together. We have so many jobs to do with our friends. I don't want to close France. I want to free it. It's not the same thing at all. So, you see, this challenge is the first. And I say it, it will be the whole campaign that I will lead. At least it will be clear. French, do you want to live free? You can live submissive with others. There will be nothing with them. Nothing will happen. Live free with me. And you will see that we will succeed. And we will go to all the French campaigns to say it. It's now that it starts. But I want three additional breaks. I will go faster. The second break is the path of intelligent protectionism. So I know, here too, we will say, he wants to close France. The Maginot Line, it never works. No, I look at what is happening in the world. It's also curious, we are, we, the sovereignists, the Gaullists, the most open in the world. We know the world. We travel. We have contacts with heads of state everywhere. And we see that the world no longer understands France. It's a shame to see France like this. Because the countries of the world protect themselves. It's not a big word to protect yourself. China, while the technocrats of Brussels multiplied the norms, while the technocrats of Paris and Bercy multiplied the taxes, China copied our products, it's inspired by it. It protected its young generations. It invested massively in future technologies. In fact, the Asian countries copied the coup d 'etat of General de Gaulle. They copied it. And they succeeded. I want to reconnect with this great Gaul -Pertiste policy. That is, a policy that lowers the charges, the norms for French companies investing in France. That gives a bonus to patriot entrepreneurs. Yes, we must do it. We must free. We must lower taxes. We must remove the rights of succession on the main residence for all French people. We must lower taxes for those who innovate. But we must stop subsidizing companies that demobilize. 200 billion of aid to French companies. Whether they demobilize or invest in France, it's the same. Don't be embarrassed. More norms in France, more taxes, the same aid, as much as we can produce abroad. I want to reorient everything. We will reorient these 200 billion on companies that believe in France. And the difference will make them reorient. There is no secret. Relocalize 2 million jobs. That's the goal. Everything must go through production in France. If we don't understand that, we will do nothing. Everything goes through there. So that means, like football, a good defense. Public purchases must be French. Yes.

We bought a municipal police car. I said, why buy a car manufactured abroad? You buy me a car manufactured in France, there are not many anymore. But it makes sense. But we lost it. French public purchases, it's 200 billion of your money, of our money, that must be bought by French companies. All countries in the world do it. Why not us? That also means knowing how to put tax rights. Yes, Trump did it. Everyone criticized him. But he was right. 100 % tax rights on Chinese cars when there is a competition for tax evasion. Why not do it? And if the Germans don't want to do it, we will do it. And they will do it with us. It's the blocking of investment of strategic companies. Since Emmanuel Macron arrived in Bercy, he has let buy, guess the number, 1 ,600 French fleurons in the leading companies by the Americans. 1 ,600. It's an official number of TF1. So, it's to say. All this to tell you that we can be renewed with a volunteer and liberal policy. Volunteering and planning are not enemies of liberalism. We have to walk on two legs. It was the success of the 30 Glorious. We can do it again. And I know that Philippe Murer will help us with that. But of course, to do that, we have to reward the work. And maybe we also have to, I say it frankly, put the French back to work. So, I tell you, I will defund the extra hours. I will remove the rights of succession on the main residence. I will strengthen the interest and participation in the capital of the companies. I will raise the amount of social benefits below the TSMIC. Because rewarding the work is the life insurance of France. But rewarding the work, I want to address the question, is to stop stealing the retired people. Because our retired people worked hard. And because the retired people have the right to the indexation of their retirement on inflation. It's written in the law of 1993 by Édouard Balladur. And today, the government wants to spoil them. That means that there is no more moral trust between the French and the government. That means that there is no more state contracts. That means that we would plunge 10 million French people in 4 years, at 3 -4 % of inflation per year, in misery. I don't want to see retired people in the street tomorrow. That's the project of Attal and Philippe, of Édouard Fillet, of Le Maire and of Le Cornu. In fact, the motorists and the retired are the cowherd to give 140 billion to Ukraine. That's the reality of what we live. But I want to go further. It is true, and not recognizing it would be a lie, that we have a demographic problem of retirement. And I believe that we can defend the retired without demagoguery. That's why I won't come back at 62, but I will stop at 62 and 9 months from the current stop. We will stay there. Not more, not less. Because even coming back at 62 is 9 billion euros. And I prefer to put those 9 billion in the retirement index, to guarantee the standard of living. But I want to go further. I propose to take half of what we gave to the European Union, since we will suppress France's contribution, since there will be no more European Union. We will save 15 billion net. Well, I propose to take half of it. For each year, create a minimum retirement rate for each new born French, which will reach 10 ,000 euros. 10 ,000 euros multiplied by the new born French, is 7 billion euros per year. It will boost a capitalization fund to Norway, which will manage until their 60th year, the small ones, of these 2 ,000 euros. 10 ,000 euros for 60 years, that's 300 ,000 euros at the end. And in gold value, inflation of 2%, that's nearly 140 ,000 euros. And then this money will allow them to have a minimum retirement rate. Certainly modest, 500 euros in current value. But still that, to which their retirement will be accumulated by distribution. It's a fundamental element, and I insist, of the reenactment of generations. Because you see, they want to oppose the young and the old. They want to oppose the young and the retired, because they want to divide to rule. They want to oppose the French of Souche and the more recent French. They always want to oppose the French among themselves. To get jealous, to get angry, to be afraid. I'm not afraid of the French, when they go in the same direction. And this capital retirement that I want to offer to each new born is very important. It will be a capitalization fund, which will be managed with rigor of course, and which will respond to 3 objectives. Give a minimum retirement and therefore a minimum of confidence to our young people, who are worried. Reinforce the birth rate, and create a sovereign fund that will be able to invest in the most beautiful French companies. This is the great revolution that I propose to you. Finally, the third rupture, it is simple, it is fundamental. A free country is a country that thinks the world by itself. France no longer thinks the world by itself. France obeys to globalists, to a deep American -Democratic state, which was defeated, so the French -Macronist canard without a head is lost, since his master was beaten in the elections, he no longer knows who to obey. France is no longer France. So we must stop giving lessons to the whole world. We must focus on our inner challenges. We must restore order in Marseille, Lille, Nantes, fight against drug trafficking, more than finance the neo -Nazi militias of Mr Zelensky. I am the only candidate who dares to say stop to this financial madness that has already committed us for 40 billion euros. I am the only candidate who has never given in to propaganda, who wants to drag us into a war with Russia. I am the only candidate who has proposed a plan that has not been used in Russia since March 7. I have nothing to do with Russia or Ukraine, I am neutral. But I want a plan that will succeed. And the plan I proposed, and I can tell you that I did not give it to him, I do not know it, it was taken over by the Americans. It is the same. It is a plan of good meaning. A neutral zone, a referendum in the Donbass, the retreat of the Russians, the UN forces to protect nuclear power plants, but nothing that gives Moscow the upper hand over Kiev. Simply a balance and real elections in Ukraine. Maybe. It would be useful. So yes, I am the only candidate who will dare during this campaign to say that we must restore cooperation between the Atlantic and the Urals. What is the future of Europe? It is a con. I am the most European of all. Because you think we will make Europe strong vis -à -vis China and the United States, by being divided with a purulent plague and a war in the heart of Europe? But it is a suicide, not only human, economic, financial. It is absurd. It does not mean that we must not be firm towards Russia, of course, but it means that we must not feed the war. And that is fundamental. So yes, faithful to this Gaulish idea, I know that our nation is great only if it embodies in the eyes of the world the common good. The common good is peace, it is development, it is the respect of each one, it is the well -being for all cultures, for all religions, provided that we are masters of our own. So yes, I want to re -wine the lines of dialogue in the Middle East and guarantee the survival of Lebanon and the Christians of the East. It is very important. It is the honor of France. Each people has the right to have their own, whatever they are. And the voice of France is out in this region of the world. And I cry because France is something else. I want to offer, I have already talked about it, but I come back to Africa, a winning -winning partnership that allows it to transform the raw materials that are today almost stolen. There will be no development of Europe, I tell you, without taking into account the extraordinary demographic development of Africa, this continent that will gain one billion inhabitants in the next 30 years. Who comes? Who speaks about it in France? Nobody. Nobody. You, yes. But I insist on it. To believe that we can save France, Europe, without building this partnership with Africa, is a total illusion. But do you hear questions about it? Never. I want to build a beautiful relationship with the BRICS, because the world must be polyphonic, as Jacques Cheminade said. I will go see Trump, and I am sure we will agree, to tell him that I want to get out of NATO, because the European countries must ensure their own security, which will not prevent a beautiful partnership with the America we love. But the America we love is a free America, it is not America of the deep state, it is America of American citizens. And we can rebuild a beautiful partnership with the United States, but on healthy bases, mutual respect. So you imagine, and finally, finally essential, I want to give a Francophone priority. The French language is disappearing from the world. The French language is trampled on in Brussels, it is trampled on in Bercy, who write notes in English, to make an account of the horrible dictatorship of Brussels. But you imagine where we are? The French language is the wealth of France, of its culture, of its civilization, it is shared throughout the world. We must give a Francophone priority. Finally, finally, you imagine the resistance of all the power of money, who have taken the habit of dictating the conduct of the French leaders, of stealing his flowers, of manipulating his opinion. The task is huge. I told an African leader that I would not quote, and I made him laugh. He said to me, but why do you present? I said to him, I want to decolonize France, dear president. And he said to me, ah! And I said to him, I am happy to have you on the phone, because I think you have a lot to learn from us. And he laughed. But sincerely, yes, we must decolonize France. It is in our head, it does not mean that we reject the others. To decolonize politically, it is the exit of the Union.

To decolonize economically, it is the intelligent protectionism. To decolonize migratory, it is to rebuild a regal state that respects but is respected. To decolonize culturally, it is to rehabilitate the French language, our culture, not to be afraid. So for that, the task is extremely difficult. And yes, I know, believe me. Jeanne d'Arc knocked out the English outside France. Clémenceau led us to victory. General de Gaulle saved the honor, because they were able to rally all the French from wherever they came from, the most modest, the most humble, those who had no interest, who had nothing to lose. And yes, that's why I think that only the gathering of the French can allow us to liberate France. And that's why, and I say it in a message of friendship to my competitors or to my competitors, I will never add a word of obliging to the French, those who are like this, like that. Because what I don't like in political life at the moment, whether it's a mixture with others, is that there is always a book of emissaries. I don't want a book of emissaries among the French. I take the French as they are, with their qualities, their flaws, mine too. And I think we have to rebuild France with all the French. But then how do we do it? You explained it earlier. 0.2 % of the speaking time in classical media. When there is a rush, in general it's to ridicule me. We have had the habit of it. How do we do it? Well, there is only one solution. It's the presence everywhere. The presence on social networks, the presence in villages, on the roads of France, in buildings, the ear-to-ear. A people who wants to regain his freedom, a people who is aware of danger, a people who wants to live, nothing stops it. And the fourth revolution I want to make, and I will conclude by that, is direct democracy. Because to defeat interests, oligarchy, the power of money, we will need the legitimacy of universal suffrage. So yes, I want to use the referendum, of course, through Article 11, whatever, Article 11, Article 89, General de Gaulle sat on it, and we will have to do the same thing, because if we wait for the parliamentarians to reform Article 11 and allow you to have the speech, you will never have it. The RIC, referendum of citizen initiative, my dear Jacqueline, that you defended with your friends of the Yellow Vests. But not only the RIC, the constituent RIC, to give the speech to the people, to change our constitution and scare the judges, the government of the judges. The recognition of the white vote, the end of the local mille-feuille with all these superimpositions of elected people who have become so notable that they have forgotten who they were elected by, who spend your money without counting, who have no interest, we live in this sector. They have wanted my skin since forever, but I still survive, thanks to you. In short, the mediocre, the small ones. Well, the commune, the department, the state. That's it, no more. All the rest, in the basket. So, obviously, this democratic electroshock must also accompany an implacable struggle against corruption. Philippe, but here, we are facing a guardian knot, Philippe, and we did not have time to talk about it. The Vierre judiciary must, I have always demanded it. But, but, but, but, we need independent judges. Because if you have politicised judges, the Vierre judiciary becomes the way to eliminate the opponents. And that is the French problem, which is very delicate. And I do not yet have the solution, so you will bring it to me. What is certain is that we must hunt corruption, conflict of interest, we need a new national liberation, we must also say very clearly, as Ghislain Benessa said, that the task will be harsh. But before we can hunt them, we must first defeat them electorally. And that is the whole issue. in the next few months. You see, liberating the nation by re-founding Europe on healthy bases. This is not the end of Europe. This is the return of a confederal Europe, of the Europe of nations and projects, of the Europe that works, of the Europe of peace. This is not the end of Europe. This is the rebirth of France and nations with cooperation. Protect the French by daring this intelligent protectionism which aims quite simply to defend the workers. Those who work hard in all countries of the world, because you know, a supercast made that the richest of all countries of the world have become always richer and the poorest of all countries of the world have become always poorer. We must find a new economic model which allows to reconcile freedom and equality. Vast tasks, those who will give us the recipe will be heroes, but in any case, this is my goal. This is social egotism. More freedom for our companies, but never forget those who are at the bottom of the pit. Never forget them. Avoid war by negotiating peace. And negotiating peace is not giving in to intimidation, it is on the contrary being stronger. Once again, this is the major subject, and

I know what some media will say, I accept it, I want peace, and I will fight with all my might so that Europe lives in peace and that France is not led by a crazy president in this crazy war. Give back power to the people by inventing a more direct democracy. Vast debate there too, and by trusting the French. This is my mission. Never forget that the word France comes from the word franc, which means freedom. So yes, everything will become possible the day we are free. We have seven months left. Seven months, not eight, seven, April 18th. We have seven months left to gather, first of all, our own, our own, the Gaullists, the patriots, the lovers of France, call them as you wish, from right and left, who still believe it is possible and who have always believed to become masters of our destiny. I ask them for this union. I ask them to pass the union before their calculations. It is vital. And we can do it. It is now. It is now. I ask you to help me. All the sovereignists, all the patriots, let us unite, because behind the presidential election, there will be our candidates for the legislative election who will represent all the families of the sovereignists. Let's leave the shops aside because behind the presidential election, we will have to win the legislative election and everyone will have their place. I want we have seven months to gather the French who ignore each other, but who voted no in 2005. They voted no at 55%. They were beaten. I tell them, vote for me, help me. We are the majority. I think you said it or someone else. We are the majority in this country. Don't be afraid. Stop listening to those who infantilize you, who blame you, who scare you. You are the majority. We are the majority. We can gather all the French who voted no. And finally, we have seven months to give hope to all orphans, to all the orphans of France, to all the French who have given up. They are millions, I know it. We will not win. I tell you in confidence that if we wake up the abstentionists, there are only they who can change the destiny of France. So go see them. Tell them they have in their hands the bulletin of vote. It's the only weapon we have. Use this weapon. Use the bulletin of vote. It's now or never. Because I don't know who said it. Tomorrow, they will no longer have this bulletin of vote. And it will be another fight. I wish we win now the democratic fight. Long live France. Long live the Republic. Thank you.
